Garland W. member of the Bulverde Group and long-time friend of Group Twelve and Club 12 passed on July 16th. Garland celebrated 40 years of sobriety before he left this world.

Book Price Increase

The price of AA books will be increasing! The new prices will be in effect in October.

At this time our office does not know what the new prices will be or what is actually increasing.

We should know by the September Nightcap.

Central Service Office Bookstore at ICYPAA

The Bookstore will be open in the Registration Room of ICYPAA on Friday and Saturday, August 22nd & 23rd., at the request of the ICYPAA host committee.

We look forward to participating with the Young People in Alcoholics Anonymous at their Convention.

The 75th Anniversary Big Book will be available at the ICYPAA location for $12, and the AA in SA History Book will be available for $1 at the Convention.

There will be a 10% discount on all Book Covers purchased at the ICYPAA Bookstore location, Friday through Saturday.

The Bookstore on Tradeway will be open its normal hours both days.

Tradition Eight (long form)

Alcoholics Anonymous should remain forever non-professional. We define professionalism as the occupation of counseling alcoholics for fees or hire. But we may employ alcoholics where they are going to perform those services for which we may otherwise have to engage nonalcoholics. Such special services may be well recompensed. But our usual A.A. "12th Step" work is never to be paid for.

Weekend in SA gives check to Central Service Office $34,086.11

A Big Thank You

On behalf of the Weekend in SA Steering committee we wish to thank the many AA groups throughout San Antonio for their contributions, who passed second baskets for hospitality or for scholarships, many thanks to individuals with their generous monetary contributions and many thanks to all the people who gave of their time in abundance to make this once again a very successful fundraiser for our Central Service Office.

As treasurer for Weekend in SA I get the privilege of seeing first-hand the wonderful generosity of our AA family in San Antonio in their dedication to our Central Service Office. Some days when I would be filling out a deposit slip I would find myself choked up with such a feeling of gratitude and love to be a part of and witness to such generosity and care that we can continue to help in keeping the doors of the Central Service Office open to be there when the suffering alcoholic calls for help. What a gift.

We look forward to seeing everyone next year at Weekend in SA which will once again be in our wonderful new home at the "San Antonio Shrine Auditorium" – May 8th and 9th, 2015.

With love and gratitude,

Debbie B.

Treasurer, Weekend in SA

From the Central Service Office Manager:

*We have been asked this question. Where does the monies that the Weekend in SA Committee give to the Office go?

Each year in December the budget for the Central Service Office is compiled for the next year. In January the Board of Trustees votes on this budget. The "anticipated" funds from the fundraising committee "Weekend in SA" is included in this budget. The amount is truly an estimate. Then we plan our years events, workshops, programs and Office expenses against the amount we have estimated to receive from the Group contributions and the fundraising efforts of the Weekend in SA Committee. In the new year we begin to implement those plans. If there is an excess of funds we put that amount into a prudent reserve to offset the future in the event of lower receipts. Thank you for asking this question.

What Trusted Servants Do We Need?

The Home Group

“It takes member participation to ensure that group service work is done. Most of us agree that A.A. ought never be “organized.” However, without endangering our commitment to preserve our spiritual and democratic Fellowship, we can create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve.” (Tradition Nine) In A.A. groups, these trusted servants are sometimes called “officers” and usually are chosen by the group for limited terms of service. As Tradition Two reminds us, “Our leaders are but trusted servants; they do not govern.” Each group determines the minimum length of sobriety for A.A. members to be eligible for any position (or office). The general guideline might be stable sobriety of six months to a year, or longer. These service positions may have titles. But titles in A.A. do not bring authority or honor; they describe services and responsibilities. And it has generally been found that giving members service positions solely to help them stay sober does not work; instead, the group’s welfare is of primary concern in choosing officers. At election time, a review of Traditions One and Two can be helpful. Individual groups have many ways of making sure that the necessary services are performed with a minimum of organization. “

Chairperson: Group chairpersons serve for a specified period of time (usually six months to a year). Experience suggests that they should have been sober awhile, at least a year; and ideally, they have held other group offices first. The chairperson coordinates activities with other group officers—and with those members who assume the responsibility for literature, hospitality, coffeemaking, programming individual meetings within the group, and other vital functions. The more informed that chairpersons—and other group officers—are about A.A. as a whole, the better they function. By keeping Tradition One firmly in mind and encouraging members to become familiar with all the Traditions, they will help to ensure a healthy A.A. group.

Secretary: Like chairpersons, secretaries need to be good all-around group servants. For groups that have no chairpersons, they may perform the tasks associated with that position. While each group has its own procedures, the secretary is generally expected to:

- Announce and/or mail information about important A.A. activities and events.
- Maintain minutes of business meetings.
- Maintain and update a strictly confidential file of names, addresses, and telephone numbers of group members (subject to each member’s approval); and know which members are available to visit still-suffering alcoholics (Twelfth Step calls).
- Keep a record of members’ sobriety dates, if the group so wishes.
- Maintain a bulletin board for posting A.A. announcements, bulletins and newsletters.
- Make certain that the General Service Office and other service entities are informed, in writing, of any changes of address, meeting place or group officers.
- Accept and assign calls for Twelfth Step help (unless there is a Twelfth Step chairperson for this task).
- Share with group members the mail from other groups and the intergroup (central office), unless this is done by the intergroup representative.

Reminders!

Signing Court Cards

This is a reminder for those of you who choose to sign the letters of attendance at AA meetings for court appointed people: You may use the Central Office's number (821-6325) on those slips asking for phone numbers, thus protecting your anonymity.

Depository Accounts

Groups can set up a "depository" account at the Central Service Office Bookstore.

The way this works:

Groups give the CSO an amount of money to be kept at the Bookstore to be used when they wish to purchase items. The Office banks the Group's money, and when items are purchased they are invoiced against their account. A statement of purchases is given to the Group on a regular basis. Only Group members who are designated by their Group may purchase against the depository account.

Purpose:

This allows the Group to order what they need and have a member come by to pick up the items without needing to bring cash or a check, or get reimbursed later by the Group.

There is NO charge for this service. It is intended to assist Groups.

Spellbound By AA: An Interview With Nell Wing—June 1994

Did Bill have a sense of humor?

Yes, he'd knock us off our chairs sometimes. He'd tell Lois and me something funny that happened to somebody he'd heard about, and the way he told it, we would just absolutely go into hysterics. He could tell a naughty story too. It wasn't that he was always pristine about everything. In the office, Bill and I used to share a big room; I was at one end and he was at the other end. So I saw the "passing parade," as it were--people coming in to see him. Occasionally somebody would say, "Hey, Bill, I just heard this," and then tell a joke currently making the rounds. And Bill would look at him as if the guy was crazy. If he didn't relate to a story or it didn't have a spark, he'd just kind of look at you. The poor guy would be standing there, so disappointed that he was telling Bill a joke and Bill wasn't laughing.

Lois and Bill never had children. Do you think they wanted them?

Lois did, certainly. She always wanted children but she had three ectopic pregnancies back in the twenties. She and Bill tried to adopt but the adoption facility said they needed a friend who could recommend them, and the friend they asked--an old friend of Lois's--said that quite frankly she didn't think it was the right thing to do, because of Bill's drinking. So they never got the go-ahead to adopt.

But Lois loved children. Up at Stepping Stones, young kids would come running over to visit with her. She didn't treat them like silly children but would talk to them as if they were adults. And even years later, the grown-up children would come back and see her. At Halloween time especially there were always lots of neighborhood kids --I never think of Halloween without remembering Bill and Lois. Lois always had the table full of pumpkins and treats. When the children knocked at the door she'd be there to give them a little something. Then the kids would pull straws to see who got the biggest pumpkin.

You mentioned before about Bill reading. Did he like to read?

He read a lot in earlier years. One of Bill's great attributes was that he could listen and learn. And a lot of very well-informed people came to visit Stepping Stones over the years. A lot of ideas were expressed there and talked about.

Did Bill imagine that AA was going to be as big as it is today?

I remember in the late 1940s I said, "Bill, this Fellowship is going to go all over the world." He laughed and said, "Nell, you can say that--I can't." But the growth was phenomenal. After the war, many servicemen in AA were stationed overseas and were responsible for getting AA started in Japan in the late forties and in Frankfurt, Germany. Actually, in Japan, the program started out with thirteen steps, not Twelve. And do you know what the wives were called in Japan? The Chrysanthemums. Wives were invited to open meetings--well, not invited, but tolerated, and they definitely did participate!

Any thought on what made AA so successful?

You know, one reason is that Bill wanted to avoid the mistakes of the past. He paid great attention to what made the Washingtonians and other similar movements fail back in the nineteenth century.

That's true, especially in a Grapevine article in 1948 --"Modesty One Plank for Good Public Relations." [In this article, Bill discusses how the Washingtonians veered from their initial singleness of purpose--which was helping alcoholics--and how they didn't have a national public relations policy--a Tradition, as AA does.]

Financials are given at the monthly CSOR Meeting on the 3rd Monday of the month. We encourage our Groups to send a representative from their Group to hear the financials read, to hear what is happening across the city, and ask questions. It is nice to have CSOR's that come each month on a regular basis to support the operations of the office and The Bookstore. Currently there are about 22 Groups participating monthly. This is good. However, your group can send a representative without their being a CSOR. The representative can sit in on meetings and does not have to come each month.
