DINNER WITH AN OLD FRIEND

We met early in 1986 as I began my journey in sobriety. His journey had started in 1985. I've learned that friendships born through each helping the other in the common fight for a new way of life is a lasting one. Gratitude becomes the common bond as we meet after many years apart. Sobriety, acceptance, and a strong belief in a Higher Power we both choose to call God, is now our way of life.

I used to say that I wished I could "bottle this way of life" and pass it on to the newcomers; but realize that I am grateful for every moment, every experience, all of the pain, and all of the lessons learned, and those still to come. Today I know it is the sum total of those experiences that makes me who I am today.

We sat down at the restaurant, two old friends reminiscing about those early days. Both the passing of time and the disease of alcoholism, have taken almost all of the people that meant so much to us back then. The longer you hang around the more you come to understand the phrase "CUNNING, BAFFLING, and POWERFUL".

We didn't need a physical copy of the Big Book; our coffee was replaced with a diet soda and an iced tea (no sugar; sodium has become a dirty word as I've aged); but this dinner was truly a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous; a closed meeting at that!!! Our topic was "Life on Life's Terms". Sobriety comes at a price, a price worth paying on a daily basis.

We caught up on each others lives-experiences and current realities. Two sober friends, each grateful for those early days; grateful to those that have left us who meant so much to us; grateful that today we can live without drinking, and trudge through life as it comes, trusting in Gods choreography of our lives.

I had been back home for about a half an hour when the phone rang. It was a girl that I've known since the late 80's. She's been struggling for quite some time now, and through her tears she told me she hasn't had a drink in a week.

I hate this disease, but am ever so grateful for my life and my sobriety.

Thank You God!!! Submitted by Richard O of San Antonio, TX
