Things We Cannot Change

Colleen K. (Cookie) P. - Passed away on Thursday, April 5th. Cookie was an active member of the Winner's Club. Cookie celebrated 27 years of sobriety. She will be missed by her friends at Winner's Club.

Definition

short-coming

A fault or failure to meet a certain standard, typically in a person's character, a plan, or a system.

"Almost none of us liked the self searching, the leveling of our pride, the confession of short-comings which the process requires for its successful consummation."

Tradition Five (long form)

Each Alcoholics Anonymous group ought to be a spiritual entity having but one primary purpose — that of carrying its message to the alcoholic who still suffers.

Who and What

This is a reprint from the San Antonio Archives handbook.

What is Group History?

History provides accounts of the past through memory folklore, pictures, documents, artifacts and monuments. Events and stories from the past help provide perspectives that allow for thoughtful decision making today. However, memory is fallible, and if significant events or stories are not captured, we can lose parts of the past.

If you are interested in collecting your home groups AA history, below you will find questions to explore as you write down the history. The San Antonio Archives would like to collect and print your group's history. You may email that to the Archives.

Questions to explore:

- How was this group formed? Was the group meant to fill the needs of a specific segment of the fellowship?
- What segment of the fellowship is currently represented? (old-timers, newcomers, young, seniors, men, women)?
- Who are the original members who still attend the meetings?
- How many members did the group start with and how many does it currently have?
- Describe any "unusual" or "unforgettable" members associated with the group.
- Do members of this group also attend other groups together or take meetings to treatment facilities? If so, where?

Continued

- What service activities does the group or members of the group engage in? (birthday celebrations, potlucks, service work with inner district or area, 12 step calls, workshops, holiday events, dances, conventions, outside speakers, etc.)
- How does this group celebrate group anniversaries?
- Is a chip system used to celebrate member sobriety birthdays?
- Provide information about current and previous group meeting formats.
- What makes this group unique? Describe group qualities.
- How does this group solve controversies among members?
- What other interesting events or thoughts would you like to add about this group?
- Does this group have regular group conscience meetings?

Suggestions for Working

With Parents or Other Caregivers

Getting to meetings and participating in other service-related A.A. activities can be difficult for parents with primary childcare responsibilities or those who have other caregiving responsibilities, such as taking care of a sick parent or family member. Accessibilities Committees can support such A.A. members in a number of ways:

- Organize and conduct local workshops on childcare at meetings;
- Research any legal issue that might be involved in setting up child-friendly meetings;
- Work with the local intergroup/central office to develop a list of meetings where kids are welcome or childcare is available;
- Develop a list of A.A. members willing to participate in phone meetings with parents/ caregivers who cannot attend meetings in person;
- Provide single parents or other caregivers with a list of internet meetings.

Shared Experience From an A.A. Member

on Childcare at Meetings

“As a newcomer, I was showered with love, attention, and mottos about ‘keep coming back, no matter what!’ I grew, matured, leveled out, and loved back while becoming a devoted member of my home group...

“When my baby was born, and my need for meetings was even greater, I began to run into a problem: children aren’t always welcome in Alcoholics Anonymous meetings. That includes women’s groups!

“Financially and practically speaking, there are conditions to being a parent that are not unique to me that can challenge a meeting schedule. Childcare, for one, is very expensive. Many newly sober mothers have husbands who are in the program as well and have meeting schedule problems of their own. Still others are single parents with tight budgets...

“I decided to take positive action! I began a meeting we call Mothers in Sobriety. It is a closed, nonsmoking meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. We have everything every other meeting has, including the Twelve Steps, Traditions, coffee, and lots of love. We also have anywhere from two to twelve kids running around the room at any given time...

“Our format is simple. After the Steps are read, prayers prayed, announcements made, we pass out a basket of toys, paper, coloring books, crayons, cookies, and kisses for all. If things get too loud or crazy during the meeting someone takes the offending party for a walk, a hug, a visit to the powder room...

“We even have a rather special meeting time: 10:00 AM. We found that this is a good time for mothers and children alike. We are fresher and calmer at this time than at the usual meeting times.”

[AA Grapevine, September 1987]
