Tradition Nine (long form) - Traditions are in the back of the 12&12

Each A.A. group needs the least possible organization. Rotating leadership is the best. The small group may elect its secretary, the large group its rotating committee, and the groups of a large metropolitan area their central or intergroup committee, which often employs a full-time secretary. The trustees of the General Service Board are, in effect, our A.A. General Service Committee. They are the custodians of our A.A. Tradition and the receivers of voluntary A.A. contributions by which we maintain our A.A. General Service Office at New York. They are authorized by the groups to handle our over-all public relations and they guarantee the integrity of our principal newspaper, the A.A. Grapevine. All such representatives are to be guided in the spirit of service, for true leaders in A.A. are but trusted and experienced servants of the whole. They derive no real authority from their titles; they do not govern. Universal respect is the key to their usefulness

AND A FINAL THOUGHT:

"It's not what happens to you but how you perceive it."

Tell Us About Your 2014 ICYPAA Experience!

Did you know that between 1970 and 2013, Young People in A.A. have contributed articles which were published in The Grapevine 210 times.

Perhaps with friends, sit down and share your experience, strength and hope you had this weekend in San Antonio! Write something about your experiences and email them to me, Tami Slater, the San Antonio Archivist. I'd love to hear about what San Antonio's International Conference meant to you. Fifty years from now--your five senses, emotions, and experiences will communicate directly what the 2014 ICYPAA was all about. Don't worry: I will protect your anonymity because I follow AA Archive Guidelines.

Interested? It ought to be a lot of fun. Tell about who you are (no last names, of course), who you saw, and what you encountered during your visit like funny incidents, heart-warming stories, local social and tourist scene happenings, and, of course, the fellow A.A. you met here who is from the other side of the world, and any other facet of your visit. Here's a hint on a facet: have you ever tried Tex-Mex? Your article can also say where you're from, when you arrived and departed, how you got around San Antonio, why you may want to come back to visit new-found friends or perhaps make the next ICYPAA conference.

Asking yourself, "who, what, where, when, why, and how". Let your inner speaker be your guide. Your finished product will be a personal and unique souvenir. What a keepsake for you, your friends and your family!

I'm not asking for any timeline, rules, or even perfection! Just email what you come up with to me at: tamicsoarchives@gmail.com

The Difference Between Open and Closed A.A. Meetings

The purpose of all A.A. group meetings, as the Preamble states, is for A.A. members to "share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve their common problem and help others to recover from alcoholism." Toward this end, A.A. groups have both open and closed meetings.

Closed meetings are for A.A. members only, or for those who have a drinking problem and "have a desire to stop drinking."

Open meetings are available to anyone interested in Alcoholics Anonymous' program of recovery from alcoholism. Nonalcoholics may attend open meetings as observers.

What Trusted Servants Do We Need?

The Home Group

Treasurer:

A.A. groups are fully self-supporting through their members' voluntary contributions. Passing the basket at meetings usually covers the group's monetary needs, with enough left over so the group can do its fair share of supporting the local intergroup (central office), the general service district and area offices, and the General Service Office. Group funds ordinarily are earmarked for such expenses as:

- Rent.
- A.A. literature.
- Local meeting lists, usually purchased from your nearest intergroup (central office), general service district or area committee.
- Coffee and refreshments.
- Support of all A.A. service entities, usually on a monthly or quarterly basis. Treasurers generally maintain clear records

(a ledger is helpful) and keep their groups informed about how much money is taken in and how it is spent. They may make periodic reports to the group and post financial statements quarterly. Problems can be avoided by keeping group funds in a separate group bank account that requires two signatures on each check. The flyer "The A.A. Group Treasurer" offers many other helpful suggestions. A.A. experience clearly shows that it is not a good idea for a group to accumulate large funds in excess of what is needed for rent and other expenses. It is wise, though, to keep a prudent reserve in case an unforeseen need arises (an amount to be determined by the group conscience). Group troubles also may arise when extra-large donations—in money, goods or services— are accepted from one member. The Conference-approved pamphlet "Self-Support—Where Money and Spirituality Mix" makes suggestions as to how groups may support A.A. services. Additionally, G.S.O., area and sometimes district committees and your local intergroup accept contributions from individual A.A. members. A.A. members are free to contribute whatever they wish, within the limits set by A.A. service entities. The maximum individual contribution to the General Service Office is $3,000 annually. Bequests or in -memoriam contributions of not more than $3,000 are acceptable on a one-time basis, but only from A.A. members.

Check with other A.A. service entities for the maximum yearly contributions they accept. Some members celebrate their A.A. anniversaries by sending a gratitude gift to the General Service Office for its world services. With this "Birthday Plan," some members send one dollar for each year of sobriety, while others use the figure $3.65, a penny a day, for each year. Other members give more, but not in excess of $3,000 per year. For additional information, talk to your general service representative or contact G.S.O.

Spellbound By AA: An Interview With Nell Wing—June 1994

Yes, that was marvelous article. But there were also plenty of things going on in the present that helped shape AA policy and Traditions, too.

Such as?

Well, for one thing, when Marty M. was soliciting for the new National Committee for Education on Alcoholism (later the National Council on Alcoholism), she made a big error in 1946. She said that whoever contributed to the NCEA would also be contributing to AA, or that AA would benefit from it. Well, that created some explosion! Bill was traveling and speaking out West and AAs were bombarding him with questions: "What's going on? What is this woman saying?" The trustees of the Alcoholic Foundation had their first press conference because of this, explaining that what Marty said was not endorsed by AA, and that the trustees had nothing to do with the solicitation announcement. Bill and Dr. Bob had earlier let their names be put on the NCEA letterhead because Bill was very supportive of what Marty was doing in the field of alcoholism. Bill never believed that AA had all the answers for every alcoholic. He always said that whatever worked for the individual was what was needed. Anyway, the Marty M. controversy lasted four years--it was a fast and furious business at the time. But it helped galvanize acceptance of the short form of the Traditions, which were later accepted in 1950 at the Cleveland Conference.

While Bill was clearly one of the Fellowship's old-timers, it seems he was often at loggerheads with other members about a variety of things.

Well, when he wrote the Twelve Concepts in 1959, most of the Fellowship wasn't interested at all. And in the early fifties he proposed a change in the ratio of alcoholics to nonalcoholics on the Board of Trustees. And nobody wanted to hear about that proposal, either. Nevertheless, both the Concepts and the ratio proposal were eventually accepted by both the Board of Trustees and the Fellowship as a whole.

These are more examples of how Bill looked ahead.

Absolutely. That's why he was so concerned about establishing the General Service Conference in 1951. By the late 1940s, it was no secret that Dr. Bob probably didn't have long to live. [Dr. Bob died in 1950.] And Bill was wondering how much time he himself might have. He wanted and expected the Fellowship to be able to go on without him and Dr. Bob. But nobody wanted to face the fact that he was going to die some day.

Weren't there a number of projects Bill wanted to get to in the years following Dr. Bob's death?

In 1954, Bill had the idea of creating a writing and research team to help him with, among other things, a major history of AA. Bill's depression was still with him and he knew that if he could give a lot of time to doing something specific and keep at it, that would help the depression. He wanted to do a good, thorough history and also put together a new edition of the Big Book. The scope of the history project proved to be too much, though, and had to be scaled back. Nevertheless, the result was AA Comes of Age. The new edition of the Big Book finally did get completed, and Bill was also eager to do a summing up of what he had learned, the wisdom that had come up through the Fellowship. He had a very precise idea of the kind of book he wanted to write, but he wasn't able to do it. In the end, what took its place was As Bill Sees It --not a bad substitute!

What were Bill's depressions like?

Financials are given at the monthly CSOR Meeting on the 3rd Monday of the month. We encourage our Groups to send a representative from their Group to hear the financials read, to hear what is happening across the city, and ask questions. It is nice to have CSOR's that come each month on a regular basis to support the operations of the office and The Bookstore. Currently there are about 22 Groups participating monthly. This is good. However, your group can send a representative without their being a CSOR. The representative can sit in on meetings and does not have to come each month.

Anonymity

Everything You Wanted To Know
But didn't know who to ask!

Sonya D., Area 68 Registrar and Yolanda F., past delegate, Panel 50 will share some thoughts on the importance of anonymity. What anonymity is. How do we honor it in the home group. How do we honor it when speaking in public. Anonymity in the social media.

Registration for the 2015 International Convention opens on September 3rd You can register by mail, web, or fax

Housing reservation information, including the Housing Bureau's contact information, will be included with your registration confirmation. Similar to the 2010 Convention, housing for the 2015 International Convention will be on a first-come, first-served basis. However, you must be registered for the Convention before you can make your reservations.

Once your registration form and payment have been received, you will receive housing information by the same method you sent in your registration. If online, a link to the Housing Reservation website will be sent to your email address along with your registration confirmation. You will then be able to complete your hotel reservation online. If you register by mail or fax, housing information will be sent to you by postal mail. Complete your housing and deposit information and send it to the address indicated on the Housing Reservation Form. Your hotel reservation will be processed and a confirmation mailed to you. As at other International Conventions, many A.A.s will be accompanied by Al-Anons and Alateens (check appropriate badge box on form.) Al-Anon and Alateen have scheduled a variety of daytime activities, including meetings and workshops at the Marriott Marquis. Of course, Al-Anons and Alateens may join in the festivities at the Party in the Park, the Big Meetings and more. Reprint from Box 4-5-9, Summer 2014, permission of AA World Services, Inc.

Form available in the Fellowship Room. WiFi in the Fellowship to use.

What is (A Day In Recovery) ?

A San Antonio tradition that is now in its 13th year. Each year this one-day event features a single speaker or speaker team to focus on a particular aspect of AA.

This year it will feature "A Design for Living" with Carla & Doug R. from Tuniga, CA. This husband/wife team has a dynamic presentation that is focused on the solution.

The presentation is conversational, not classroom, and the day provides many opportunities to enjoy the fellowship of others on this happy road. A continental breakfast is provided as well as snacks and limitless coffee throughout the day. Lunch is on your own, and most attendees go in groups to the many restaurants that are located nearby.

Free door prize tickets will be given out at the registration desk, and the door prize drawing will be held at the close of the Conference. At breaks there is a time for a chat or a smoke. The lineup wraps up with a question-and-answer session that always proves to be thought-provoking and educational.
